Peter Nicolay Bernkasteler Badstube Riesling Auslese

Terrior

The Bernkasteler Badstube means something like „the roman spa of Bernkastel“. Our property is split into many small lots, totaling to about 15 acres. The main soil type in the Bernkasteler Badstube is a medium-deep clay-slated residual soil having varying parts of loam and stone mineral content. In some areas one encounters pure slate having a high mineral content.

Description

The Bernkastler Badstube Riesling Auslese is really limited in production, only 2-5% of the Riesling grapes have the quality that is necessary for producing an Auslese (selection). A complex array of ripe peaches, nectarines and tangerines make this Riesling very special.

Food affinities

Perfect as desert wine. Have it with crème brûlée and sliced fruits or just a nice cheese platter.

Auslese

Varietal

100% Riesling

We Say:

„This one has a great aging potential. Drink it now or later it will last at least 10 years. It will lose some of its sweetness and the minerality will be more present the more it ages.“
